

THE YORKVILLE ENQUIRER.

Obituary.

Died—March 6th, 1855, in Lowndesboro, Ala., Major G. ROGERS. He was born in Lancaster District, South Carolina, 12th July, 1817. He left a widow and four children, and a large number of friends to mourn his loss.

Major Rogers was possessed with a strong native intellect, though he had not the early advantages of a thorough education, his being entirely of a practical character; yet he had considerable talent for acquiring information upon practical subjects, especially of a statistical character; perhaps in this respect equal to any, for his opportunities, I have ever been acquainted with.

All commissioned and non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates, who have served for a period longer than fourteen days in any of the wars of the United States since the year 1790, are entitled, by virtue of this Act, to receive a warrant for one hundred and fifty acres, or a warrant for such quantity of land as may be agreeable, with what may have been hitherto received, one-half acre for every six acres. This Act also extends to the officers, soldiers, or volunteers who served at the battle of King's Mountain, and to all persons who have been actually engaged in any battle in any of the wars in which this country has been engaged.

As a friend he was true, as a husband and father kind and affectionate, and as a master, humane.

The writer was informed by one, who was well acquainted with his father, that the old gentleman was of the Seceder persuasion, and all who are acquainted with that denomination know them to be an honest-hearted people; and always inculcated in their children firm belief in the Christian Religion. In Major Rogers' case this was evidently seen. Scripta Mundi is the motto of his mind, and notwithstanding he never made a profession of religion before his dying hour, yet, for several days, and perhaps weeks, he sought God with great perturbation of spirit, until he came to Jesus by his spiritual adviser, and "Gained manifest in the flesh, recognising the world as his enemy." It was astonishing to see with what vigor his mind appreched the glorious truth, and his heart trusted in Jesus as his only Savior; and upon the question being asked him—if he was willing to die, he replied—he was, but honestly confessed the only lingering desire he had to live, was to take care of his family and train his children properly. In life he was a member of the Masonic Fraternity. The day after his death, a funeral discourse was pronounced by the Rev. J. M. Jennings, before a large audience, after which his body was followed to its last resting place, by a large processional of friends and his Brethren of the Mystic Tie, and interred with the solemn and inspiring ceremonies of that benevolent order. W.—Lowndes County Chronicle.

Deceased—in this District, on the 31st ult., Mr. JAS. JOHNSTON, in the 75th year of his age.
